CP Kelco: Translating Inspirations into Innovations

CP Kelco is a leading global producer of specialty hydrocolloid products and solutions, serving customers across the globe. With more than 80 years experience in the manufacturing, manipulation and application of multiple hydrocolloids, CP Kelco develops innovative rheology solutions for a wide range of end-use applications. Join us at NYSCC Booth 1352 to see how CP Kelco translates inspirations into innovations!

CP Kelco strives to provide our products with minimal modification. Our broad product portfolio, coupled with our years of manufacturing and application expertise, enable us to offer deep understanding of how our products deliver on customers' needs and expectations for their end products -- including functional benefits such as sensorial properties, thickening, suspension, stabilization and gelation.

CP Kelco products – including pectin, gellan gum, xanthan gum, carrageenan and cellulose gum -- touch a wide variety of consumer and industrial products, tailored to meet the needs of regional customers. We draw on decades of experience at the forefront of developing solutions for cosmetics, personal care, pharmaceuticals and other applications ... the possibilities are endless. And we continually redefine our offerings by listening to customers, understanding their application needs and defining the value CP Kelco provides.

At NYSCC, stop by Booth 1352 to get up close and personal with the science of rheology. With nature-based hydrocolloids from CP Kelco, together we can help you create products that exceed your expectations!
